

To whom it may concern:

I have a good friend suffering from a respiratory illness that would require her to use oxygen on a plane. She already feels incapacitated by the disease, and being relatively young, she feels depressed as a result. As someone who loves to travel, not being allowed to travel due to the restrictions upon oxygen, it compounds the difficulties she already suffers as a result of her disease. I hope that you understand the impact that prohibiting oxygen devices upon planes has upon my friend's quality of life. It exacerbates an already unfortunate situation. Please accelerate your plans to implement the ruling that will allow her to use an oxygen device on board planes.

Thank you,

Aaron Bilstrom